

EPA is hereby providing for public information a draft Toxicological Review, draft IRIS Summary, and charge to external peer reviewers for EPA's health assessment of naphthalene. These documents are provided for public viewing during an external scientific peer review period. Sections of the documents pertaining to the inhalation carcinogenicity of naphthalene are the subject of the external review. While EPA is not soliciting public comments by this action, any scientific views received on the content of the Toxicological Review or IRIS Summary prior to August 13, 2004 will be considered in subsequent drafts. Please direct any correspondence, identifying the IRIS program, chemical substance, document date, and EDOCKET ID# to:
